A NEW RESOURCE FOR JOB SEEKERS IN A DOWN ECONOMY

Angela Copeland Launches Copeland Coaching, Offering Expert Advice and Solutions

(MEMPHIS, Tenn., October 21, 2013) – After nine years of informally providing career-coaching services, Angela Copeland is launching her own practice, Copeland Coaching. Copeland Coaching provides assistance at all stages of the job-search process — including networking, interviewing and negotiation — and is available for those seeking a career change at all levels. Angela Copeland specializes in personal branding, leveraging the Internet in the job search process, and creative job searching in a down economy.

“I started coaching while attending graduate school at Pepperdine University. My professors noticed that I looked for jobs differently than the other students. They began referring students and professionals to me for career coaching, and would also ask me to give presentations on job-seeking skills. I’ve continued to coach informally since then, and recently I felt called to turn it into a business.”

In addition to her work with individual job seekers, Angela has written an e-book titled Breaking the Rules and Getting the Job. The book provides practical, useful advice for those looking to improve their job-seeking outcomes. The book is set to be released on October 28 and can be purchased at www.CopelandCoaching.com.

Angela recently became the official career coach for the Volunteer Odyssey program, which offers participants exposure to new employment opportunities via a seven-day volunteering and blogging tour of the Memphis nonprofit scene.

Copeland Coaching is a Memphis-based career-coaching service, providing solutions for job seekers at every career level. Founder Angela Copeland has extensive experience in the technology and business sectors and has received numerous awards and recognition for her professional accomplishments.
